Internships

The Kansas City Star sports department is seeking an intern for summer 2016 to cover community sports and help out with video and reporting from Royals games and Chiefs training camp. Students would work for 10 weeks for class credit. To apply, send a brief cover letter, resume and writing samples no later than Nov. 30 to sports editor Jeff Rosen at jrosen@kcstar.com or 1729 Grand Blvd., Kansas City, Missouri, 64108.

The Louisville Courier-Journal is hiring interns for summer reporting, photography and multimedia positions. Interns will work 40 hours a week for 12 weeks and will make $500 a week. Students must have completed one year of college. Deadline to apply is Nov. 6. Learn more and how to apply here.

Alternative Breaks is looking to hire two public relations interns as coordinators for the 2016-2017 school year. Applications will be accepted until Nov. 6. Learn more here kuab.org.

Slate is hiring several internship positions for summer, fall and spring. Learn more here.

Looking for an internship in Washington, D.C.? Check out these opportunities at dcinternships.org.

Find internship opportunities at many large news organizations at Poynter.org or check out the J-School's jobs and internships web page. You can filter by job or internship and full or part time. And don't forget that our career and outreach coordinator, Steve Rottinghaus, can help you with your search.

Other student opportunities

Students are encouraged to enter the Hearst Journalism Awards Program for outstanding work in writing, broadcast, photojournalism and multimedia categories. Scholarship prizes range from $1,000 to $5,000. Deadlines vary for each category. Learn more at the Hearst Awards website, then contact Susanne Shaw, Doug Ward or Lisa McLendon so they can help you submit your work.

Gain a competitive advantage in your future job search by doing an internship and studying abroad. The KU Office of Study Abroad offers the opportunity to do both simultaneously through its eight-week summer internship programs in Dublin, London, Madrid, Prague, Shanghai and Sydney. To learn more, attend the an information session at 3 p.m. on Nov. 3 in the Clarkson Gallery. Questions? Email kategerken@ku.edu.

Each year, students are eligible to apply for School of Journalism scholarships. All students admitted to the school are encouraged to apply. Students who receive KU renewable scholarships should note that the School of Journalism will likely be funding those scholarships during your junior and senior years. Students receiving renewable scholarships should still apply for journalism scholarships; additional funds may be available. Applications are due Dec. 1. [Apply here.]

NBC Universal’s Page Program is currently accepting applications. The program is a 12-month rotational development experience that puts students in the NBC Universal's talent pipeline. Learn more [here.]

The Carnegie-Knight News21 program invites journalism students to apply for this prestigious opportunity. The program begins with a virtual seminar during the spring 2016 semester taught by Leonard Downie Jr., former editor of The Washington Post. Students will conduct research and learn from experts on civil rights in America. The seminar is followed by an immersive reporting experience in the summer, led by News21 Executive Editor Jacqueline Petchel, a Pulitzer Prize-winning investigative journalist. Students work out of a newsroom at the Walter Cronkite School of Journalism and Mass Communication in downtown Phoenix and travel the country to report and produce their in-depth, multimedia stories. Learn more [here.]

The BEA Festival of Media Arts is accepting entries for its international exhibition of student work in the following competitions: audio, documentary, interactive multimedia, two-year/small colleges, news, scriptwriting, sports and video. Winners will receive recognition and exhibition of their work during BEA's annual convention in Las Vegas, April 17-20, 2016. Deadline is Dec. 15. [Learn more here.]
