J-School Generations

Mark your calendars for J-School Generations, which is Oct. 5-6 this year in conjunction with KU Homecoming. This event is for alumni, students, faculty and staff of the J-School to network, learn, have fun and reminisce. Students will get raffle tickets for attending the J-Talk, trivia/game show and round-robin networking, and there will be drawings at each of these events to win KU and J-School swag! Students also will have a chance to win cash prizes for their J-School-affiliated student media organizations.

Students, please RSVP to bit.ly/jgen-rsvp to let us know which events you would like to attend.

The schedule of events is:

Thursday, Oct. 5
- All day: Alumni speakers visit J-School classes. See a list of alumni speakers.
- Noon: Hot dog lunch for all J-School students, faculty, staff and alumni (Clarkson Gallery, Stauffer-Flint Hall)
- 5:30 p.m.: J-Talk: A TED-style event featuring alumni speakers Zak Beasley, Jenni Carlson and Kameron Mack (Stauffer-Flint Hall, Room 100)
- 6:30 p.m.: Alumni reception (Clarkson Gallery, Stauffer-Flint)

Friday, Oct. 6
- 9 a.m.: Trivia/game show with students and alumni on combined teams (Clarkson Gallery, Stauffer-Flint)
- 10:30 a.m.: Round-robin networking (Resource Center, Room 210, Stauffer-Flint)
- Noon: Lunch (Clarkson Gallery, Stauffer-Flint)
- 1 p.m.: Sneak peek of William Allen White's 150th birthday celebration events in 2018!

---

Faculty and staff news

Professor Scott Reinardy was featured in a Poynter article titled "Women dominate journalism schools, but newsrooms are still a different story." The article was written by Catherine York, a Duke University senior writing for the Investigative Reporting Workshop, a nonprofit newsroom in Washington, D.C. Read the story.

Faculty members are encouraged to present at the Kansas Scholastic Press Association fall conference Sept. 25-26 in Topeka. This year's conference commemorates 25 years since Kansas became one of the few states to protect student speech in school publications. More than 1,500 student journalists are expected to attend. Please consider presenting a session (or two) and critiquing a student publication.
Speakers include:

- Jim Richardson, photographer from National Geographic
- Frank LoMonte, former executive director of the Student Press Law Center
- Mary Beth Tinker, famed student from the Tinker v. Des Moines Supreme Court case
- Colleen McCain Nelson, vice president/editorial page for the Kansas City Star

Questions? Contact Eric Thomas or Kerry Navinskey.

---

Research and presentations

Associate Professor Hyunjin Seo's research paper, "Press Freedom Homophily in the Tie Structure of the Global Internet," has been accepted for presentation at the 51st Hawaii International Conference on System Sciences (HICSS) Jan. 3-6, 2018, in Hawaii. Using Exponential Random Graph Modeling, the research shows that press freedom homophily is significantly predictive of the presence (or absence) of country-to-country internet connections even when controlling for geographic proximity, bandwidth, and whether or not a country is democratic. The HICSS conference brings together scholars from computer science, system science and social science.

On Sept. 15, Associate Professor Yvonnes Chen led a Center for Teaching Excellence workshop with Ward Lyles of Urban Planning on "Best Practices for Effective, Productive and Civil Class Discussions." This interactive session involved participants in brainstorming and exploring the applicability of a wide variety of best practices for engaging students in small and large classrooms. Fifteen Lawrence and Edwards campus participants and discussed long-term strategies to foster an inclusive climate and specific pedagogical tools and techniques to engage students.

A study from Associate Professor Tien Lee and KU graduate students Stephen Gray, Alexandra Inglish and Tejinder Singh Sodhi analyzed advertising content from religious programs and found that fear is the primary appeal used to reach Christian viewers, and medical products are among the most commonly advertised. The study, forthcoming in the Journal of Media and Religion, was the product of a graduate seminar focusing on popular culture and mass media. [Read the KU News story.]

---

Student news
JD-Ph.D. student Harrison Rosenthal (above) delivered the 2017 Convocation Address to his high school alma mater, The Barstow School, in Kansas City, Missouri. He encouraged students to identify and practice their core personal values before leaving high school to maximize happiness in college. Watch a video of the event here (Rosenthal's address begins around 19:30). Rosenthal also visited Associate Professor Tien Lee's J640: Strategic Campaigns class to talk about his recent experience with creating a strategic campaign for Camp Quality USA. He discussed the importance of effective group communication and organization when creating a successful campaign.

Roseann Pluretti, J-School Ph.D. student, was nominated to emcee the first interdisciplinary Red Hot Graduate Research event of the semester this Friday, Sept. 22, at 4 p.m. in The Commons in Spooner Hall. Red Hot Graduate Research is intended to bring together graduate researchers from all disciplines.

Using its LTN live-shot technology, students at Media Crossroads helped to facilitate an interview with former Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius and MSNBC earlier this month.

Internships and jobs

Find job and internship opportunities on the J-School’s jobs and internships web page. You can filter by job or internship and full or part time. And don’t forget that our career and outreach coordinator, Steve Rottinghaus, can help you with your search. Some recent opportunities include:

Jobs
- Sports director/reporter, USSSA (Kansas City, Missouri)
- Content specialist, Greater Kansas City Community Foundation (Kansas City, Missouri)
- Graphic designer, City of Topeka (Topeka, Kansas)
- Sports multimedia journalist, KY3/KSPR (Springfield, Missouri)
- News producer, KCTV5 (Fairway, Kansas)
- Marketing representative/on-air, KCNK Radio (Concordia, Kansas)

Internships
- Copywriting internship, Summit Marketing (Kansas City, Missouri)
- Graphic design internship, Summit Marketing (Kansas City, Missouri)
- Spring intern, FleishmanHillard (Kansas City, Missouri)
- Promotions intern, Entercom (Kansas City, Missouri)
- Summer internship, Association for Women in Sports Media (various locations)

See more job and internship opportunities here.
If you have recently accepted a job or internship, please share the news with Steve Rottinghaus, career and outreach coordinator, at steve_rottinghaus@ku.edu.

Editor from Wichita to visit J-School seeking interns

Two times remain (2 and 3:30 p.m) for J-School students to be interviewed for The Wichita Eagle winter and summer internship programs. Steve Coffman, the executive editor and vice president of news for the Eagle, will interview J-School students on Thursday in Stauffer-Flint, Room 104. The Eagle is looking for interns interested in reporting, videography, photography and web/social media producers. The winter internship, between the fall and spring semester, is structured for class credit. Summer interns earn $500 a week. To register for the interviews, drop by the Career and Outreach Office, Stauffman-Flint Hall, Room 120, or email Steve Rottinghaus at steve_rottinghaus@ku.edu.

Washington Post internships

The Washington Post is now accepting applications for its summer 2018 internship program. The deadline to apply is Oct. 6. Learn more and apply here.

Student opportunities

Students with Photoshop skills are encouraged to apply for the Pretty Photoshop Action Scholarship Program. The winner will be awarded a $500 scholarship. Deadline to enter is Oct. 15. Learn more.

The Global Awareness Program at KU, the Office of Study Abroad and the University Career Center is offering a workshop, "Marketing Your International Experience," for students. The workshop will help students leverage their international experiences to pursue and land an international career. The workshop is 4-6 p.m. Sept. 27 at the Sabatini Multicultural Resource Center Classroom. Food will be provided, and space is limited. Please RSVP by this Friday at gap@ku.edu.

Students, if you are looking to get involved in any of the student media organizations or clubs at the J-School, check out the J-School website for more information.

Events

Doughnuts with the Dean

The first Doughnuts with the Dean of the semester is 9-10 a.m. Sept. 21 in the Clarkson Gallery. Stop by to pick up a doughnut and talk to Dean Ann Brill about what's going on at the J-School or KU or anything else on your mind!
KU professor and film director Kevin Willmott will speak about his involvement in a new documentary on William Allen White at the fourth annual William Allen White Legacy Day in Emporia at 4 p.m. Oct. 7 in Albert Taylor Hall on the Emporia State University campus.

Rock Chalk Connect

Jayhawks living around the San Francisco Bay Area are invited to join Dean Ann Brill for an evening of conversation Oct. 11 to learn about and help shape the J-School’s vision for its future. Heath Peterson, president of the KU Alumni Association, also will share information about the launch of a transformative, university-wide KU Alumni Mentoring platform. Created by PeopleGrove, this tool will help foster professional and industry connections between Jayhawk alumni and current students. Special guest: Adam Saven, co-founder and CEO of PeopleGrove. Learn more here.

JSchool Tech

It’s not too late to sign up for JTech teams or this week’s visual boot camp. Go to jschooltech.org/events to sign up. There are still a few seats open for Friday’s visual boot camp working with Photoshop and Illustrator. Camp runs from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Room 105, and a light lunch will be available. JTech teams are flexible, fun ways to learn skills and build your portfolio. Questions? Email halawrenz@ku.edu.

Teams
Team topics would be similar to boot camp: InDesign, coding, Photoshop, Illustrator, Premiere and After Effects. Teams would meet once a week for an hour and would be organized around project-based and inquiry-learning models. Teammates would set the schedule and develop an individual learning plan. You can sign up for existing teams now or contact Heather Lawrenz at halawrenz@ku.edu to create your own and have others join you!

Boot camps
The JTech boot camps would be on the following topics: coding, InDesign, graphics creation (Photoshop and Illustrator), video (both capture and editing). The boot camps would run for two-three hours on Fridays. Attendees have to sign up in advance. Light
JTech Tips

JTech Tips will feature helpful hints and suggestions from Heather Lawrenz to make your tech life at the J-School smoother.

This week’s tip: Color printing and you
In order to take advantage of color printing at the J-School, you need to be in our print permission group. Save later heartache by test printing early in the semester. You can color print from any Resource Center desktop and on any Resource Center laptop (connected via Jayhawk Wi-Fi). You will need to enter your KU online ID and password in a verification dialog. If this does not work, email halawrenz@ku.edu your name and KU online ID, and she will add you to the print group.

Mark your calendars

Sept. 21: Doughnuts with the Dean, 9-10 a.m., Clarkson Gallery
Sept. 22: Faculty meeting, 1:30-3 p.m., Room 206
Sept. 25-26: KSPA Fall Conference presentation, Topeka
Oct. 5-6: J-School Generations
Oct. 14-17: Fall Break
Oct. 15-17: Kansas Association of Broadcasters convention, Manhattan, Kansas
Oct. 26: Portfolios, LinkedIn and Resumes workshop, 4 p.m., Clarkson Gallery
Oct. 27: Faculty meeting, 1:30-3 p.m., Room 206
Nov. 8: Doughnuts with the Dean, 9-10 a.m., Clarkson Gallery
Nov. 9: Career Fair: 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Kansas Room, Kansas Union
Nov. 22-26: Thanksgiving Break
Dec. 8: Stop Day
Dec. 8, 10:30-noon, followed by lunch, Clarkson Gallery
Dec. 15: Last day of finals
Feb. 23: Judging for the KSPA Regional Contest
May 5: Judging for the KSPA State Contest

To see all J-School events, go to http://journalism.ku.edu/calendar